LAND RECOGNITION

We recognize that our work takes place on Indigenous territories across Turtle Island and pay tribute to their legacy and the legacy of all First Peoples of Canada.

Today, the traditional meeting place of Toronto is still home to many Indigenous People from across Turtle Island and we are grateful to have the opportunity to work in the communities that have grown in the treaty lands of the Mississaugas.

We acknowledge that we are all treaty people and accept our responsibility to honour all our relations.

A MESSAGE FROM ONOME AKO, CEO

Throughout 2024, our world continued to face extraordinary challenges. In Gaza, Lebanon, Sudan, and beyond, conflict and crisis forced families from their homes and pushed millions closer to the brink of hunger.

At the same time, delivering humanitarian aid became more dangerous than ever. Last year, 383 humanitarians lost their lives, the highest number ever recorded. Behind this devastating statistic are colleagues, partners, and friends who risked everything to save others.

Even in the face of these immense challenges, our teams around the world never stopped working to bring relief and hope to those who needed it most. Thanks to their dedication, we reached more than 26 million people worldwide this year. Together with local communities, we saved lives, strengthened capacity, and laid the foundation for long-term recovery.

Building on this momentum, and with support from Global Affairs Canada, we relaunched the Global Emergency Nutrition Response Program (GENRP II), expanding our reach in countries hardest hit by the hunger crisis. From emergency nutrition and health services to clean water, the program delivered life-saving support where it was needed most.

But hunger didn't stop at international borders.

Here in Canada, the rising cost of living left nearly 9 million people food insecure. It's a sobering reminder that hunger is not a distant problem; it is a global emergency, affecting lives in every corner of the world.

In response, we proudly relaunched our domestic programs, partnering with local organizations to support people facing hunger in communities across the country.

As we look to the future, we know that the threats of conflict, climate change, and rising inequality will demand even greater collaboration across all borders. And it's the support of our donors that makes that possible.

To all our donors, from individuals to foundations to institutional partners who believe in our mission, thank you. Your support fuels our ability to act quickly, reach further, and build lasting solutions.

Together, we can meet this moment. We can push back against hunger, at home and around the world.

With gratitude,

ONOME AKO
Chief Executive Officer
Action Against Hunger Canada

OUR VISION

A world free from hunger.

OUR MISSION

We take action to end hunger and its root causes worldwide. We respond to crises and partner with local communities to prevent, detect and treat malnutrition. We promote change to policies, practices and inequalities that perpetuate hunger.

OUR PRINCIPLES

INDEPENDENCE

Action Against Hunger acts according to its own principles in order to maintain its moral and financial independence. Action Against Hunger's actions are not defined in terms of domestic or foreign policies, nor does the organization act in the interest of any government.

NEUTRALITY

Action Against Hunger maintains a strict political and religious neutrality. Nevertheless, Action Against Hunger can denounce human rights violations it witnesses as well as obstacles put in the way of its humanitarian activities.

NON-DISCRIMINATION

A victim is a victim. Action Against Hunger rejects all discrimination based on ethnicity, nationality, opinion, race, religion, sex, or social class.

PROFESSIONALISM

To maximize its efficiency and use of resources, Action Against Hunger bases the assessment, conception, management, and realization of its programs on the highest professional standards and its years of experience.

FREE AND DIRECT ACCESS

Action Against Hunger demands free access to victims and direct control of its programs. Action Against Hunger uses all means available to achieve this goal and will denounce and act against obstacles that prevent the organization from doing so.

Action Against Hunger also verifies the allocation of its resources to ensure that they reach those individuals for whom they are destined. Under no circumstances can partners working together with or alongside Action Against Hunger become the ultimate beneficiaries of Action Against Hunger's aid programs.

TRANSPARENCY

Action Against Hunger is committed to respecting a policy of transparency and disclosure for its beneficiaries, donors, and partners by making available all information on the allocation and management of its funds, and by providing independent verification of its good management.

OUR IMPACT IN 2024

Our mission is to save, improve and protect lives by eliminating hunger through the prevention, detection, and treatment of undernutrition, especially during and after emergency crises caused by situations of conflict, displacement, poverty, discrimination, inequality, or natural disaster.

From crisis to sustainability, we tackle the immediate, underlying and root causes of undernutrition and its effects through a multisectoral approach.

By designing our program with local communities, integrating them into national systems, and working with partners, we ensure that short-term interventions are translated into long-term solutions.

In 2024, we supported 26.5 million people, delivering meaningful impact for them and their communities.

Our work is delivered through several different sectoral focuses. These consist of nutrition & health, food security and livelihoods (FSL), water, sanitation & hygiene (WASH), disaster risk reduction (DRR), and mental health and psychosocial support (MHPSS). Our most common activities relate to nutrition and health, with the majority (59 percent) of the people we support receiving such assistance.

In many of the areas in which we work, people receive more than one intervention as our programs often integrate into multiple sectors.

WHERE WE WORKED IN 2024

In 2024, we operated in 59 countries.

SUPPORTING THE UNITED NATION'S SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

The Sustainable Development Goals are set by the United Nations (UN) to bring peace and prosperity to people and the planet. Our work at Action Against Hunger helps achieve the following SDGs:

ZERO HUNGER

At Action Against Hunger, we work with communities to address the root causes of hunger, which impacts nearly 1 in 3 people worldwide. Our technical expertise detects, treats, and prevents malnutrition, ensuring communities receive immediate support during crises.

GOOD HEALTH AND WELLBEING

Through our local collaborations, we provide technical expertise, frontline responders, health professionals, stakeholders, and community capacity building training.

Our projects in health, nutrition, food security, and psychosocial support, help the most vulnerable to achieve good health and wellbeing.

GENDER EQUALITY

We recognize that gender inequality and gender-based violence are drivers of hunger — and that emergencies heighten risks for women and girls. Action Against Hunger is committed to empowering women and girls, and transforming gender and power relations in all that we do.

We are committed to upholding the rights of all women, men, girls and boys and people of diverse abilities, genders and identities both within our organization and in the communities we work with.

CLEAN WATER AND SANITATION

Our programs ensure communities have access to water through water storage tanks, new and rehabilitated wells, hand pumps, and piped water connections. We promote sanitation and hygiene practices, which are crucial to health and well-being.

CLIMATE ACTION

We work with communities to combat climate change by implementing sustainable agricultural practices. These include crops that survive extreme weather conditions, vegetable gardens that use less water, and information systems that help livestock herders find grazing lands.

HUMANITARIAN RELIEF

When emergencies strike, Action Against Hunger is there to provide life-saving aid. We collaborate closely with local government agencies, non-governmental organization partners, and community leaders to deliver efficient and effective relief to communities devastated by disasters.

Our reach extends across Africa, South Asia, the Middle East, and South America, often operating in areas inaccessible to many other organizations. Whether people are fleeing from conflict or facing the effects of the climate crisis, our mission remains steadfast: to offer essential nutrition, health, water, shelter, and mental health support.

In 2024, the deadliest year on record for humanitarians, our teams faced unprecedented risks to deliver life-saving support. Despite the danger, our response efforts remained extensive, spanning 64 emergencies across 30 countries worldwide. From crises across Gaza, Lebanon, and Sudan, we swiftly assessed emergency needs and provided essential care.

NUTRITION

From isolated rural communities to refugee camps, we work to detect, treat, and prevent malnutrition in 59 countries around the world. With over four decades of experience, we’re global leaders in improving the health and survival of the most vulnerable children, pregnant women, and nursing mothers.

Our Work In Action

In Isiolo County, Kenya, Clinton was taken in by his grandmother after being abandoned as a baby. When she found him, he was dangerously thin and eating dirt to stave off hunger. After a visit with a Community Health Worker trained by Action Against Hunger, they discovered he had severe acute malnutrition and rushed him to a nearby health facility to get treatment. Now two years old, Clinton is healthy, energetic, and thriving toddler — a powerful example of the life-saving impact of timely nutrition interventions.

HEALTH

Everyone deserves access to the essential healthcare they need to live healthy, nourished lives. That’s why we work closely with local health systems and community health workers, combining technical expertise with on-the-ground knowledge to strengthen services where they are needed most.

This approach is at the heart of our work in Tanzania’s Singida region, where Janet Mwendo works tirelessly to improve her community’s health. Four years ago, she completed an Action Against Hunger course that trains community health workers to help bridge the gap between the healthcare system and families with limited access to care.

Today, she visits homes twice a week, checking children’s health, teaching caregivers about nutrition, and referring patients to the local hospitals. The rest of her week, she follows up with patients at a clinic supported by Action Against Hunger.

In a country where 14% of children under five are underweight and 34% are chronically malnourished, her efforts are changing lives. Thanks to community health workers like Janet, more families are learning how to keep their children growing healthy and strong.

WATER, SANITATION & HYGIENE

We can't fight life-threatening hunger without tackling the waterborne diseases that contribute to it. Safe, clean, and accessible drinking water and proper sanitation are crucial to human health and well-being. However, the effects of climate change and conflict are creating a global water and sanitation crisis.

Unsafe water sources, poor sanitation and hygiene expose billions of people, particularly children and the vulnerable, to a wide range of preventable diseases that are major contributors to global malnutrition and mortality rates.

Action Against Hunger has developed our water and sanitation expertise over three decades, advancing solutions for populations at risk from water insecurity. Our ability to deliver clean water is central to our comprehensive solutions to hunger and malnutrition.

This year, we helped over 7.6 million people through our various water, sanitation, and hygiene (WASH) programs. We responded as droughts became more frequent and severe, floods contaminated water sources, and conflicts destroyed WASH-related infrastructure.

WATER TRUCKING: A LIFELINE IN GAZA

Since 2023, life in Gaza has been marked by extreme hardship, with even basic necessities like clean water in dangerously short supply. With over two-thirds of water and sanitation infrastructure damaged or destroyed and fuel in short supply, water production collapsed. In 2024, over 1.4 million people in Gaza received less than 6 liters of water per day.

Amid these conditions, Action Against Hunger teams, supported by Global Affairs Canada, provided emergency water trucking to 274 shelters across Gaza, delivering over 14,000 m³ of safe water to more than 322,000 displaced people in the hardest-hit areas, including Gaza City, Jabalia, Rafah, and Beit Lahia.

“Water trucking became more than a job, it was a source of hope,” said one team member. Alongside water trucking, efforts included supplying 3,100 liters of fuel to keep remaining wells operational and rehabilitate damaged ones. To support sanitation, four gender-segregated latrine blocks were built, serving nearly 3,000 people.

Although water trucking and emergency sanitation efforts are temporary measures, they continue to provide a vital lifeline, a glimmer of hope amid the daily struggles of life in a conflict zone.

FOOD SECURITY & LIVELIHOODS

While Action Against Hunger treats malnutrition and responds to humanitarian crises, we also focus on helping communities build lasting resilience. We invest in food security and livelihoods because recovery isn't just about surviving a crisis, it's about being able to rebuild, earn a living, and protect your future.

But rising conflict and climate change are preventing three out of ten people from accessing healthy food by forcing families to flee their homes, destroying crops, disrupting markets, and driving up food prices.

That's why our food security and livelihoods programs are tailored to local needs. Throughout the year, we supported hundreds of initiatives designed to boost incomes, strengthen food systems, and give families the means to not only survive, but thrive.

PSYCHOSOCIAL SUPPORT

Hunger, conflict, and natural disasters can have a significant impact on someone's mental health.

The constant danger and the daily battle for food and water can cause immense psychological stress and emotional suffering that can undermine people's ability to eat a nutritious diet.

That's why we run programs that improve the psychosocial well-being of women, men, and children during and after crises.

We work in very hostile and challenging contexts which can often affect people's mental wellbeing. Our outreach teams provide group and individual therapy sessions, organize awareness campaigns in the community, and train teachers and community leaders on psychological first aid and mental health awareness.

In 2024, our psychosocial support programs reached over 200,000 people.

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH GLOBAL AFFAIRS CANADA

From lifesaving humanitarian assistance to long-term development, Action Against Hunger’s partnership with Global Affairs Canada is rooted in a shared commitment to reach the most vulnerable people, especially women and children, with the support and tools they need not only to survive but to thrive.

In 2024, Global Affairs Canada provided critical funding to support both our emergency response and development programs across Africa, Latin America, and the Middle East. Thanks to their support, we reached over 2.7 million people.

HUMANITARIAN ACTION: GENRP II

In crisis-affected regions around the world, Global Affairs Canada supported Action Against Hunger to deliver rapid, gender-responsive, and life-saving assistance through the Global Emergency Nutrition Response Program (GENRP II).

Building on the success of a previous phase which ran from 2021-2023, the GENRP II scaled up in 2024 to reach over one million people across 12 countries, including the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), Ethiopia, Somalia, and South Sudan.

LONG-TERM DEVELOPMENT:

In Partnership With Global Affairs Canada

Gender Equitable Nutrition in Tanzania and Uganda (GENTU)

In rural communities of Tanzania and Uganda, Action Against Hunger’s GENTU Project, supported by Global Affairs Canada, is working to fight malnutrition while breaking down barriers of gender inequality. As part of the project, Community Care Group Volunteers receive practical training on how to select nutritious foods, prepare balanced meals, and prevent nutrition deficiencies. One of them is Suzan, a Village Health Team member in Uganda.

“GENTU taught me how to improve nutrition for my family, and now it’s my turn to share this knowledge to end malnutrition in my village,” Suzan says proudly.

Côte d’Ivoire

Since 2021, the ACT-Femmes project, supported by Global Affairs Canada, has been driving economic and social transformation in northern Côte d’Ivoire. By introducing village savings and loan associations, the project has already engaged over 1,470 women and adolescent girls across 49 villages, helping them launch businesses, access healthcare, and provide education for their children.

For Kinafou, a mother of seven, the support she received through ACT- Femmes was life-changing: with a small loan, she started a porridge and doughnut business that now supports her family’s school fees and medical needs.

Mali

At the heart of the Integrated Fight Against Chronic Malnutrition project, funded by Global Affairs Canada, is a commitment to empower rural women. By supporting agriculture and entrepreneurship, the project is helping women gain autonomy and increase financial independence. In Kayes, women’s average agricultural income has grown by over 150% thanks to training and access to resources.

Since its launch, the project has reached more than 760,000 people, over half of which are women and children, and continues to create a ripple effect, improving the lives of more than 2 million residents across surrounding districts.

SOFIA'S STORY: HOPE IN THE HEART OF CRISIS

When the skies over Southern Lebanon lit up with explosions, everything changed in an instant. Entire communities were thrown into chaos, with families forced to flee and homes reduced to rubble. The need for urgent humanitarian aid was clear.

And thanks to the remarkable generosity of Canadians, Action Against Hunger was able to respond without delay.

In partnership with fellow members of the Humanitarian Coalition, we launched an immediate emergency appeal, raising over $9 million, including a $5.17 million match by Global Affairs Canada.

Amidst this outpouring of support, families like Sofia's found a lifeline.

Sofia lived in Laylaki with her two small children. But as violence escalated, her world collapsed. "Our life changed overnight," she told us. With her babies in her arms, she fled in the dead of night, with no time to pack.

They sought shelter in an unfinished building; cracked concrete, no walls, no doors. Cold nights, sick children, and no access to food, medicine, or clean water tested Sofia's strength.

"My baby was sick. I had no milk, no diapers, no medicine," she shared, holding back tears.

But support arrived just in time.

Thanks to funds raised through our emergency appeal with the Humanitarian Coalition, Action Against Hunger was able to provide Sofia with the vital support she needed. Her children were screened for malnutrition and given treatment to strengthen their health. She attended counseling sessions on breastfeeding and childcare, learning how to care for her children's nutritional and emotional needs in crisis.

"My son, Abdel Malek, is in good health now. I dream of rebuilding our life and giving my children the stability they deserve," Sofia said.

Sofia's journey is just one of many, but it stands as a powerful reminder of how compassion and coordinated humanitarian response can change lives. Even in the darkest moments, hope persists. And thanks to Canadians, that hope has been made real.

Action Against Hunger is proud to be part of the Humanitarian Coalition, partnering with 11 other leading aid organizations to provide rapid support during times of crisis.

GLOBAL NUTRITION CLUSTER

During emergencies, timely and coordinated support saves lives. Local government authorities, humanitarian agencies, and nutrition practitioners are often the first on the ground, delivering critical life-saving aid when it's needed most. However, their efforts are most effective when backed by strong systems of support and collaboration.

That's where the Global Nutrition Cluster (GNC) plays a vital role, serving as a comprehensive nutrition support platform, ensuring timely and coordinated technical assistance to emergency responders during crises.

Action Against Hunger Canada co-hosts the GNC Operations Team with UNICEF, who support frontline responders in emergencies by providing technical resources, remote and in-country support, coordinating global working groups, managing a roster of emergency nutrition consultants, and hosting learning events to strengthen local capacity.

In 2024, the GNC supported 64 countries facing emergencies, including Syria, Gaza, Somalia, Sudan, and the Democratic Republic of Congo.

GLOBAL NUTRITION CLUSTER IN SUDAN

In Sudan, conflict has left clinics overstretched and under-resourced, with limited services for mothers and malnourished babies under six months old, who are at high risk of poor growth and development.

To address this gap, the Global Nutrition Cluster (GNC), in collaboration with local partners, introduced the MAMI (Management of At-risk Mothers and Infants) approach.

This approach includes training frontline health workers, adapting care tools to fit Sudan's needs, setting up pilot sites, and improving systems to monitor care.

These efforts are helping ensure that the most vulnerable children, and their mothers, receive the consistent, life-saving care they need when they need it most.

SMART INITIATIVE

In many regions facing high rates of malnutrition, a lack of timely and dependable data on nutrition and mortality rates prevents governments and humanitarian workers from creating an effective response.

Action Against Hunger Canada hosts the global SMART Initiative, who leverage the power of data to predict and respond to hunger crises through a network of organizations and humanitarian practitioners.

Using the Standardized Monitoring and Assessment of Relief and Transitions (SMART) survey methodology, we gather nutrition and mortality data, and other public health information, to estimate the burden and gravity of malnutrition in a country.

This provides decision-makers with quality data to better understand nutritional needs and effectively develop an evidence-based humanitarian response.

SMART Initiative Support in 2024

professionals trained in SMART surveys

Building on the successful launch of SMART+ last year, a new digital infrastructure transforming how we collect and share data, the SMART Initiative has made remarkable strides in 2024.

One of the most urgent examples comes from Zambia, where a prolonged drought, compounded by deep-rooted systemic challenges, has pushed child malnutrition to crisis levels.

Alarming findings from SMART surveys estimated that within the next year, nearly 52,000 children under five are at risk of severe wasting, the deadliest form of malnutrition. Another 276,000 are expected to experience moderate wasting.

To better understand the crisis, Action Against Hunger, UNICEF, and other partners rapidly deployed seven SMART+ surveys. The findings revealed serious gaps in access to water, sanitation, and hygiene, and a surprising regional disparity: malnutrition rates were higher in the Southern Province than in the Eastern Province, where the crisis was initially believed to be worse.

This data enabled a rapid pivot, redirecting resources to Southern Zambia and expanding essential water and hygiene services to avert a deeper crisis. It's a powerful example of how SMART+ isn't just strengthening systems, it's saving lives.

DOMESTIC PROGRAMS

In 2024, Action Against Hunger Canada took an exciting step forward: we expanded our programming to address hunger here at home. While our international work remains at the heart of what we do, the growing need across Canada demanded action, and we answered that call.

Food insecurity in Canada is rising rapidly. In 2024, one in eight households in Canada struggled to put food on the table, and food bank usage reached record highs with over 2 million monthly visits. The numbers are staggering, but behind them are real families who need support.

We partnered with trusted, grassroots organizations already making a difference. In Toronto, we teamed up with Fort York Food Bank, a critical lifeline serving more than 5,500 people each week in the downtown core. Throughout the year, we supported their efforts to combat rising food insecurity and helped ensure that more people had access to nutritious food.

We're also collaborating with the Early Childhood Development Initiative (ECDI), an organization dedicated to supporting Black families with culturally relevant programs. Together, we're co-creating innovative projects, from connecting families with local Black farmers and African food suppliers to helping households grow their own food at home.

This expansion reflects our belief that fighting hunger has no borders. Whether across the world or across the street, everyone deserves access to nutritious food. We're proud to bring our mission home, and this is only the beginning.

THANK YOU

In a year of soaring humanitarian need, we witnessed mass starvation on a scale not seen in decades. From the Middle East to parts of Africa, conflict and climate change drove hunger to catastrophic levels.

Today, more than 673 million people around the world don't have enough to eat. Yet even as needs grow, global funding continues to decline. In too many places, hunger deepens while the world looks away.

But hunger is not inevitable. We have the tools, expertise, and solutions to prevent and treat it. What's missing is the collective will, and the funding, to act.

In the face of these challenges, Action Against Hunger stepped up. In 2024, our teams delivered lifesaving assistance in the world's most remote, at-risk areas.

While their work is essential, it's growing increasingly dangerous. This year, we mourned the loss of colleagues who gave their lives in service to others. Their sacrifice is a stark reminder of the risks our teams face and the courage it takes to reach those in need.

Thanks to their efforts, and the support of our donors and partners, we treated 750,000 children facing life-threatening malnutrition last year.

To everyone who made that possible, thank you. In a time of unprecedented need, your support fuels hope.

With deepest thanks,

Leslie
